JEWELLERY

Artist Statement

Lynn Zhang was born and raised in China. She studied fine art in high school which supported her with a very clear direction in jewellery and silversmithing. She enjoys studying different techniques and working with a variety of materials. Drawing has brought her the ability of visualization which is beneficial for developing her skills of using jewellery to express the design ideas. She has a natural affinity for jewellery design and is avidly interested in all aspects of jewellery field, be it the various techniques and material applications learned during her undergraduate education or the stories behind the works.

Her attention to detail and dedication to symmetry creates a sense of balance and harmony in her work, while the bold and vivid colours add an element of energy and vibrancy. Through her design, she aims to apply variety of materials and explore the interplay between light, colour, and structure, inviting the viewer to contemplate the beauty of both the natural and man-made world.
